ADMINISTRATION AND EVALUATION OF CO-OPERATIVE AGRICULTURAL SERVICE SOCIETIES IN THE STATE OF PUNJAB WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO MOGA DISTRICT

> Ph.D. thesis submitted by Nirmal Singh In the Faculty of Arts (Public Admn.) Panjab University Chandigarh

Citation

This research was pursued to assess the working of Co-operative Agricultural Service Societies in Punjab particularly Moga district using both secondary and primary data inputs for analysis. The scope of the study spreads from 2000-2006. The Co-operative Societies were set up to make the provisions of adequate, cheap and timely credit to the beneficiaries at their door steps. The co-operatives however could not achieve success in letter and spirit. The major findings of the study are; the short tenure of the Registrar, lack of participation of the beneficiaries, lack of appropriate training of the functionaries and difficulty in sanctioning loans. There is also no clear-cut procedure for sanctioning loans to nonagriculturist beneficiaries. Further, existence of defaulters, lack of recovery efforts and indifferent behaviour of the employees dampen the effectiveness of the co-operatives. Some of the significant suggestions of the study may help to improve the working of the societies in Punjab.
